WHO WE ARE

The Department of Workforce Services (DWS or Department) assists Wyoming’s communities to adapt and thrive, providing a livable wage for families through sustaining income, fair and legal employment, enforcement of child labor laws, legal payment of wages, and a safe working environment for Wyoming workers.

To develop a sustainable and quality workforce, the Department assists Wyoming businesses and serves a variety of clients, including employers, employees, injured workers, job seekers, individuals with disabilities, families working toward earning self-sustaining wages, healthcare providers, child care providers, parents of young children, older workers, veterans, individuals seeking social security disability benefits, training providers, youth, and many more!

Read on—let’s venture through the variety of programs and services our agency has to offer our fellow Wyomingites!

The data presented in this document represents State Fiscal Year 2020 (July 1, 2019, through June 30, 2020), unless otherwise specified.
DIVISIONS

The Department is structured into three primary divisions: Workforce Programs; Standards and Compliance; and Research, Policy, and Communications. Each of the Department’s divisions are viewed as an integration of services following the merger of two state agencies in 2011. All divisions are either mandated by law or connected to mandates. The Department’s programs are deeply impactful in terms of safety advocacy and enforcement, job connection and training, benefits to those who have lost employment, have been injured on the job or have become disabled, and enforcement of labor law. The Department administers 55 state and federal programs in 20 field offices across Wyoming.

WORKFORCE SUPPORT SERVICES

Workforce Centers are a central point of service for those seeking employment, training, and related services. Services are offered to job seekers and employers, and include personalized job search expertise, resume and cover letter assistance, mock interviews, career interest testing, job advertising, and prescreening applications.

The Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) Program assists individuals with disabilities to obtain and maintain competitive employment. Assisting the client with finding employment may be part of their employment plan. However, the long-term goal is economic self-sufficiency. VR is co-located in 14 of the 20 DWS local workforce centers, along with two independent offices, and 19 outreach locations.

Disability Determination Services (DDS) is the state-level agency responsible for determining whether claimants are eligible for Social Security disability benefits. DDS makes the initial determination for each Social Security disability benefits application. DDS also rules on cases that are resubmitted for reconsideration.

Unemployment Insurance (UI) is a safety net program that provides monetary assistance to eligible workers who are unemployed through no fault of their own. The UI system has been fully modernized to a cloud based interface. This interface can be replicated by other states, and improves the experience of claimants.

Workers’ Compensation is funded by premiums paid by employers to provide coverage for lost wages and medical bills when an on the job injury occurs. In exchange, employers receive the benefit of reduced medical costs and are protected against lawsuits from the injured party.

Under the federal Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), each state has Workforce Development Boards charged with directing federal, state, and local funding to workforce development programs. Workforce Development Boards also oversee the workforce centers. Wyoming has one state-level Workforce Development Board which advises the Wyoming Department of Workforce Services and its 20 full-service workforce centers in the state. In Wyoming, this board is called the Wyoming Workforce Development Council (WWDC) and serves in the capacity as “Local Board(s)” as well.

The WWDC is a 30-member board charged with assisting the Governor in directing Wyoming’s workforce development system, ensuring the system is fundamental in supporting robust regional and state economies and producing a high quality, self-sufficient workforce valued by Wyoming employers. Members represent a range of groups including businesses and industry leaders, organized labor, legislature, education, social service agencies, and others who have a stake in employment and training issues. The WWDC regularly assesses Wyoming’s employment needs, advises the Governor on setting performance goals and priorities to improve the workforce development system and helps leaders to shape workforce development policy at the local level. The WWDC has been empowered by the WIOA and the Governor to promote, fund, and oversee Sector Strategies, Career Pathways, and Apprenticeships for the State of Wyoming.

As a result of WIOA, the Wyoming Workforce Development Council has been reappointed in-line with Executive Order 2015-5. WIOA was written, "to amend the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 to strengthen the United States workforce development system through innovation in, and alignment and improvement of, employment, training, and education programs in the United States, and to promote individual and national economic growth, and for other purposes."

WIOA authorizes and brings together the following core programs:

- Employment and training services for adults, dislocated workers, and youth;
- Wagner-Peyser employment services;
- Adult education and literacy programs; and
- Vocational Rehabilitation state grant programs that assist individuals with disabilities in obtaining employment.
